NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (Reuter)—A Buenos Aires dispatch to the New York Times states that it is learned from an unimpeachable source that Brazil and Chile have agreed to lease naval and air bases to the United States.

The construction of the bases will be financed by the United States and it is also believed, adds the report, that Uruguay may revise her earlier decision and agree to lease bases.

His Majesty, shown here inspecting New Zealand troops in England, is in just as much danger as his loyal people and he shares all the risks which they face. Recently he had a narrow escape from death while touring an area in Central London, a whistling bomb crashing just in front of the entrance of one building about a minute before the King arrived. Despite his narrow escape the King remained calm and unmoved.

AXIS POWERS ENCIRCLE BALKANS. With the "protective invasion" of Rumania by Germany on Monday, the Axis powers launched the beginning of a vast encircling movement around the Balkans predicted by observers following the concentration of Italian troops in Albania last week. The movement, it is now believed, is developing into a pincer threat aimed at Greece and probably Turkey, with the object of closing the last doorway to British influence in Europe and at the same time to anticipate Russian infiltration into the Balkans by way of Transylvania. The direction of the drive made by the two Axis powers is shown in the above map.

BOMBS IN HEART

LONDON, OCT. 14 (REUTER)-MANY FIRES WERE START-ED WHEN THE R.A.F. DROPPED TONS OF HIGH EXPLOSIVE BOMBS AND HUNDREDS OF FIRE BOMBS ON BERLIN ON SATURDAY NIGHT.

For over, an hour, the R.A.F. attacked a number of military objectives in the heart of the German capital and although intervening clouds obscured the full results of the bombing, a number of large fires were started, one of which was visible far beyond the city boundaries

The vanguard of the ralding party, states the "Air Ministry" news service, reached Berlin shortly before 10 p.m. and was met with heavy opposition from many powerful gun batteries, supported by an outer ring of searchlights, which encircled the capital.

LONG-RANGE

DESCENDANTS OF "BIG BERTHA"

Reports have already been published about fragments of metal found on the south-east coast which it was thought might be splinters from shells fired from the Coast of France. It is now believed that this is the case.

The Dutch wireless has described the gun as having a calibre of 11cm. (4.1in.), which would fire a projectile weighing from 30b. Military opinion believes that guns of very much larger calibre have been used.

NO DIFFICULTY

There would be no excessive technical difficulty in making a gun with a range four times as great as the distance from Calais to Dover, or anything up to 100 miles, especially with the experience of "Big Bertha," of the last War, as a guide. That gun had a calibre of 21cm., fired a projectile of 260lb., and a range of about 80 miles w

EXTREMELY COSTLY Guns of this type are extremely costly and have a short life. though nowadays they might be expected to have a rather longer life than that of "Big Bertha," which was about 60 rounds. Actually, only the first four rounds were accurate, so rapid was the wear, and after these four rounds the charge was increased, the elevation of the gun remaining constant.

They are not as effective as the modern bomber. If the Germans were to employ them against Lon-| don it would be largely because they found themselves unable to maintain bombers over the capital. Aerial spotting at such a range would be extremely difficult in face of fighter opposition and counteraction against the guns by bombers supported by fighters would be practicable.

FINANCIAL TRICKERY BY NAZIS

NATIVE BANKS IN OCCUPIED AREAS DUPED

THE TRICKERY ADOPTED BY GERMANS in the occupied territories in the matter of their financial transaction formed the subject of an interesting talk from Daventry on Sunday night.

HOW IT WORKS

"It works out something like this," said the speaker. "The Germans buy up in the occupied countries, all the foodstuffs, raw materials and manufactured goods they want to use. They pay good prices too, in most cases and this is intended to make the people they buy from say These Germans are not so bad after all "But what do they pay in and what do they use for money? Well they pay in German bank notes or in special bills, which promise to pay later on.

"These are of course, of little use to the people. They cannot buy German goods, because all German exports are controlled. The only goods allowed out are those wanted by the German army of occupation. Therefore, there are not many goods to buy.

PART OF THE TRICK

"Why, then, do these people say These Germans are not so bad after all?' That is part of the trick. The native banks in the occupied territories are compelled to cash these worthless German notes and change them into good and hard money of the country. The people thus get the money from their own banks.

"This is an old trick brought up make such a claim, although to date and in fact bolls down to paying Germany's debts for noth ing. It is clever because it makes the producers think that they are well done by. It is plain rob bery and this is one of the many things we are fighting to end."

It is likely that even if Hitler does claim Alsace and eastern Lorraine as German territory, he will not encroach further on French soil, and will grant France's claim to the territory of Belfort, and to the great French iron basin of Briey, which lies just across the Moselle from Metz and is the richest deposit of iron ore continent and has long provided the steel plants of Belgium, Luxemburg, the Saar and France.

LUXEMBURG MAY DISAPPEAR

Many observers here believe that the grand duchy of Luxemburg may disappear in Hitler's remapping of Europe. This little buffer state has been overrun in every war in western Europe for centuries.

The conversations which are proceeding in Paris and in Wiesbaden generally are concerned with the application of the armistice convention, but in diplomatic circles there is an impression that authoritative denial was given in this exchange of views between nere yesterday to the semi-official French and German delegates, the Vichy statement on Oct. 8 that the foundation of the future peace is French garrison at Jibuti was being laid. Thus far there has been facing familie as the result of no question of peace conditions, the British seizure of French, food but diplomatic circles believe that supplied from Madagascar.

Roosevelt's Speech Most Forthright Answer Yet Given To Axis-Japan Pact

LONDON, Oct. 14 (British Wireless and Reuter)—President Roosevelt's broadcast speech on Saturday, following closely upon the recent declarations of the Republican candidate, Mr. Wendell Willkie, has given what the Press here feels is authentic notice, in unmistakable terms, of where the United States stands on the great morale issues which took Britain into the war against Hitlerism, and where the American people will continue to stand until all danger to the ideals of freedom, justice and neighbourliness among nations has been overthrown.

The DAILY TELEGRAPH hails the speech as the most forthright answer yet given to the Axis-Japanese Pact. The President has restated his country's intentions with a new emphasis.

possible interpretation upon its "1940" Mobilisation for Human policy of defending the Western Needs," President Roosevelt warm concern that not mere- be cruel to be tough." ly the territories of the American continent and its adjacent islands aggressors not to dismiss are guaranteed by that policy, but lightly the "spiritual fortification" traditional principle of American fence. diplomacy which has been ignored before with disastrous results for the challenger.
